... Good news for current buyers of Anello valves.

NEW ANELLO
AUTO RESET
SLAM SHUT VALVES

Vistec have been the Irish agent for Anello slam shut valves since 1997. While we have always found them to be reliable and very competitively priced, their application has been limited in so far as they only offered manual reset models. However, with the launch of the GSAV and GHAV range of valves we are now able to offer auto reset valves as well. The GSAV range covers sizes from 15mm to 50mm and are spring activated, with a 0 – 100% flow adjustment. The GHAV range covers 65mm to 150mm and are electro-hydraulically operated. On both valves a indicator LED warns that the valve is powered. We are confident that the addition of these new valve ranges will give us increased marketplace and is good news for current buyers of Anello valves.

ANOTHER NEW FACE AT VISTEC

Paul O'Flaherty has joined the team as an additional service engineer. This will help Vistec maintain their good reputation for servicing and commissioning and will facilitate even more prompt responses to call outs. Paul previously worked as an electrician and cable engineer. After some intensive training on Gas Detection systems, he is now out on the road.

CORK CALLING

Providing our usual high standard of service to Cork customers has always been handicapped by Vistec being based in Dublin – so we are delighted to announce that Cork based Pat O'Neill has joined Vistec. From his Cork base, Pat will service Cork extending out to Limerick and Waterford.

REVENUE AUDIT

The letter with a Harp arrived – routinely opened – then panic – stories of intense grilling by stern faced teams of inspectors recalled to mind – but the reality was a thorough and humane investigation conducted with patience and great courtesy.

REVAMPED WEB SITE

With the advent of the new Explorer 7, some customers couldn't open our web site as normal – so to cure this we have revamped our web site with the newsletter added on line. In the course of this we were embarrassed to discover that the wrong Fax number had happily existed on the site for the last few years!

ASTI RETIREMENT

As we have flagged in previous newsletters, Dermot Lahiff has retired to spend more time in Spain. This means that the manufacture of Asti units has ceased. The Asti phone number is now diverted to Vistec. We have arranged for a limited supply of spare parts and so are pleased to be of service to his former customers.
